Claim Of Gains By The Nazis

Fierce Night Battle Of Heavy Tanks Waged

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's high command reported today the annihilation of nine Soviet divisions and the crushing of nine other divisions "with the bloodiest losses"—a grand total of about 270,000 men—in fighting south of Lake Ilmen on the Leningrad front.

In a special bulletin, the Fuehrer's field headquarters declared that strong forces of the 11th, 27th and 34th Russian armies had been "decisively defeated," with the capture of 53,000 Red army prisoners, 320 tanks and 625 pieces of artillery.

German losses, as usual, were not disclosed.

The Nazi bulletin said the vast slaughter occurred "during the past weeks" and indicated a smashing blow to Leningrad's defense army of 1,000,000 men.

Fierce Night Battle
Simultaneously, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported that a gigantic night battle of heavy tanks for "an important point on the approaches to Leningrad" ended in a complete rout of the Germans, who left hundreds dead on the field.

Nazi military dispatches, picturing Leningrad as doomed, said the great network of steel and concrete fortifications ringing the old czarist capital was crumbling under blows of the most destructive weapons in the German arsenal.

More than 200 Soviet bunkers and pill boxes in the Leningrad defense zone were reported smashed or captured, and German troops at some points were reported only 15 miles from the heart of the city.

On the southern front, the Nazi high command asserted that German troops after several days' fighting had captured a series of "highly important bridgeheads" across the lower Dnieper river in the Ukraine, clearing the way for a drive into the rich industrial valley of the Don.

Sink Nazi Ships
At sea, the Russians reported the sinking of ten Nazi ships—seven troop transports and three escorting warships—in northern waters off Norway and Finland, and declared that the Germans had been smashed in an attempt to land troops on the fortified island base of Oesel, off Estonia.

In inkling that Germany now was hurling all available manpower into the bloody 87-day-old struggle, possibly to replace staggering losses, was seen in a British report that Hitler had been compelled to withdraw "nearly 500,000 seasoned troops" from Nazi conquered Belgium, Holland and France to meet the demands of the Russian campaign.

Young recruits and soldiers over 35 years old were said to have replaced the half million sent to the front, and the British said there was reason to believe western Europe still was garrisoned by 800,000 German troops. Presumably, this force would be sufficient to make the British hesitate before risking an attempt to invade the continent.

Executions For Five By Nazis

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—The people's court announced the execution today of five men, four of them convicted of preparation for high treason and the fifth of spying for a foreign power.

This brought the total of executions for these crimes for the year to 29.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 16.—(P)—Edward Rouse, 19, of Columbia, Mo., was killed and Lloyd Morris, 17, also of Columbia, was injured early this morning when their car crashed into a railing on a viaduct two miles north of here on U. S. highway 63.

The highway patrol said the car, going south, failed to negotiate the curve on the viaduct approach.

Rouse was taken to a Jefferson City funeral home and Morris to St. Mary's hospital here where his condition was described as "not serious." He had numerous cuts on his face, scalp and arms.

Welcome By British Given U. S. Attitude

Extension Of Coastal Frontiers Prove Big Help

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(P)—The broadening of American frontiers beyond the coastal limits of the United States, such as establishment of the defensive outpost in Iceland, will be welcomed by Great Britain even after the war, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington, declared today.

The envoy described the establishment of such outposts as "a reproduction and expansion of the American pioneer spirit."

"The problems of the United States" and Britain's defenses have come to be considered as one problem," he told a press conference at the ministry of information, adding that it was a problem which would not cease with the end of hostilities.

Lord Halifax expressed satisfaction with the production of the war materials by the United States, saying that "as the United States industrial capacities get going, things will look much different."

Commenting on Britain's civil defense, Lord Halifax said he noted the nation was fully prepared for a possible renewal of heavy air raids. He also said,

Rerouting Of Truck Traffic Is Discussed

Petition Offered Council Suggests Use of 'By-Passes'

Residents along Broadway and Missouri avenue, Highways 50 and 65 in Sedalia, presented to the city council Monday night a petition suggesting the rerouting of heavy freight traffic over "by-passes" away from the residential district of the city.

In the discussion which lasted for nearly two hours, and the residents protesting against the noise caused by the huge trucks throughout the day and night, and council members, questioning the right of the city to reroute a state highway, finally accepted a committee, appointed by Mayor Julian H. Bagby, to investigate the reroute possibility.

Danger To Students

The petition, which mentioned the danger to students attending Smith-Cotton high school and Broadway grade school, which are located on Broadway, was read to the council by Samuel P. Harlan, attorney, who told the members of the activities of a committee to secure signers to the petition from residences along the two thoroughfares. 286 signatures were obtained.

W. M. Johns, 705 West Broadway, told the council of the disturbances caused by the heavy trucks, and said that as many as 75 truckloads of cedar posts being shipped through the city had been counted passing along Broadway in a single day.

Mayor Bagby pointed out to the petitioners that the rerouting of traffic from highway 50 to some other road either in or out

Severely Hurt In Accident

John Strickler, 318 West Broadway, was severely injured last Friday night about 7 o'clock when his truck he was driving hit some loose gravel on a curve one mile east of Clifton City throwing it out of control. The vehicle left the road rolled down an embankment several feet deep, hitting a tree demolishing the truck, driving the engine back into the seat, and contents of the truck were thrown upon Mr. Strickler crushing him beneath the steering wheel.

A passing motorist identified Mr. Strickler and telephoned his brother, E. F. Strickler, of this city, and informed him about the accident. Mr. Strickler, a doctor and Fred Stafford immediately drove to the scene and brought the injured man home. Both legs were injured just below the knee caps. His chest was badly smashed and there were several minor injuries about the face and hands. Monday he showed little improvement.

Huge Parade On By Legion

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 16.—(P)—The American soldiers who shouldered rifles in France in 1918 substituted canes today as they swung jauntily down Milwaukee streets in the American Legion's brilliant convention parade.

Milwaukee got up early, hurried through breakfast and, hours before the start, massed 10 deep along the entire three mile parade route.

The march started promptly at 9 a. m., to continue without interruption for at least 12 hours. The first section passed the reviewing stand shortly before 10 o'clock. Convention officials said about 50,000 would participate.

Scattered clouds filled the sky and there was a threat of showers as the 1940 national champion Edward H. Monahan Post band of Sioux City, Ia., moved toward the reviewing stand, followed by National Commander Milo Warner, past national commanders and distinguished guests.

Business sessions, which got off to a rousing start yesterday, with the applauding of every inference of intervention in the foreign conflict, were suspended for the big show.

Budget To Be A Record One

Director States It May Reach To Thirty-two Billion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Harold D. Smith, budget director, today began the preparation of a record breaking budget for the next fiscal year which may reach $32,000,000,000.

Financial experts explained that, in the last analysis, the size of the new budget will depend on the estimated amount of munitions the nation's factories can turn out. The cost of this production plus certain routine government expenses will write the total.

Defense is scheduled for about a $25,000,000,000 share of next year's budget, compared with about $15,000,000,000 this year. This fiscal year will end and the new one begin the night of June 30, 1942.

Smith declined to estimate the size of the next budget, saying that he has only begun hearings on departmental requests.

The revenue side of the budget will depend mostly on the tax bill now awaiting final action in congress.

Roughly, the new bill will add $3,500,000,000 to the federal revenues of the next fiscal year. With revenues from existing laws, the government "take" thus may reach $13,000,000,000 or more. Mr. Roosevelt and Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, however, already have promised they will ask for still more taxes next year.

The indicated deficit of approximately $19,000,000,000, and spending and revenue forecasts, all would set new records for American finance.

The largest deficit of the World War era was $13,370,638,000. Until this year, the spending record was $18,522,895,000 and the revenue record was $6,694,565,000, both World War figures. This year the spending is estimated at $22,269,000,000, revenues at approximately $11,000,000,000, and the deficit at about $12,269,000.

Troops March On Teheran

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(P)—British and Russian troops tonight were reported marching on the Iranian capital of Teheran as the nation's ruler, Reza Shah Pahlavi, abdicated under the threat of such action.

The British and Russians accused the Shah and his government of dilatory tactics in carrying out an agreement to expel or deliver to the Allies all German, Hungarian, Italian and Rumanian nationals.

This afternoon, it was learned authoritatively, British and Russian troops were marching on Teheran with plans for immediate occupation of the city.

A Teheran dispatch, not immediately clear here, said that Russian forces already had occupied the town of Karaj, 28 miles northwest of Teheran, but stated that a British military attaché had gone to inquire into the reason for the Russian move. This dispatch was filed before announcement over the Teheran radio of the Shah's abdication, and before it was stated authoritatively here the British and Russians were co-operating to occupy Teheran.

An Expulsion Demand Made

Argentines In Ouster Move For Nazi Ambassador

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 16.—(P)—A congressional demand for expulsion of ringleaders of Nazi undercover groups, a category in which an investigating committee named German ambassador, Edmund von Therman, presented a problem today for acting President Ramon Castillo.

Castillo has sought "neutrality toward all." Foreign Minister Ruiz Guinazu declined to say what action the republic's foreign office would take.

By a vote of 79 to one, congress late yesterday adopted a three-point resolution:

1. Declaring von Therman had "overstepped the bounds of a diplomat and abused his privileges."
2. Calling upon the administration to remove from the country within three days the chiefs of welfare and cultural circles and labor unions which the committee investigating subversive activity called a disguise for the outlawed Nazi political party.
3. Demanding legal rights be stripped from the German chamber of commerce, described by the committee as another agency for Nazi political activity.

The German envoy, who had protested twice against what he called "gross calumnies" and "personal insults" voiced against him during house of deputies debate, was not mentioned by name in the ouster demand. But the form in which he was censured on charges of abusing his diplomatic privileges was the equivalent of holding him to be persona non grata in Argentina, officials said.

The investigating committee, headed by Deputy Raul Damonte Taborda, also had charged he was paymaster for Nazi undercover groups throughout South America and the chief of an "almost military organization" in Argentina, disciplined by storm troops and financed by levies upon residents of German blood.

Some newspapers speculated upon the possibility that Capt. Fritz Widemann, former consul general at San Francisco who arrived Sunday from Rio de Janeiro might have been sent to replace Von Therman.

Innocent Plea For Doctor In Flogging Case

Attorney States It Be On Temporary Insanity At Trial

BOLIVAR, Mo., Sept. 16.—(P)—Morgan M. Moulder, an attorney for Dr. Robert Murrell, announced at the opening of the latter's trial in the Ozarks flogging case today that the 35-year-old Eldon, Mo., osteopath would plead innocent by reason of temporary insanity.

His statement was made in a half filled Polk county courtroom with a seating capacity of about 300 as attorneys began questioning jurors who will try Dr. Murrell on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The state charges Dr. Murrell stood by with a pistol while his fiancée, Miss Hilda Rhoads, 25, and her roommate, Miss Aldyth Keeth, 26, lashed Max Caldwell, 23, an Ozarks guide, in a lake side cabin last spring.

Morgan, a Camden attorney, was one of three attorneys representing the osteopath who appeared in the courtroom clad in a light gray suit set off by a gray striped tie. Others at the defense counsel table were Herman Puhahl, of Bolivar, and John W. Culp, of Gainesville, Tex., Dr. Murrell's former home.

Representing the state were Lieutellus Cunningham, Camden county prosecutor; Vane C. Thurlow, assistant attorney general; Guy Thompson, Polk county prosecutor, and Ray Starling of Eldon, Mo.

Dr. Murrell is the second to go on trial as a result of the alleged flogging. Miss Keeth was convicted of common assault in June and fined $100.

Trial is scheduled next month for Miss Rhoads, who filed a rape charge against Caldwell after she was charged with felonious assault, but later dismissed it.

A jury of 11 farmers and one merchant was completed at noon to try the doctor.

In the courtroom were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Murrell of Valley View, Texas, parents of the defendant; his brother, J. T. Murrell, a Pennsylvanian, and Judith Ann, two year old daughter of the doctor. He is a widower.

U. S. In Trade Pact With Haiti

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—The United States and Haiti today signed an agreement under which lend-lease goods valued at $1,000,000 for Haitian defense will be sent to that strategic Caribbean island.

The agreement was signed by Secretary Hull and Fernand Dennis, the Haitian minister. Repayment will be made by Haiti by shipments of Haitian products to this country.

Officials said the products to be imported from Haiti would be covered in other agreements to be signed in the future and would probably include rubber, sugar, cocoa, fibers and other raw materials.

The United States and Haiti are already cooperating in defense measures in the Caribbean through the construction of an air field near Port-Au-Prince, which may be utilized by both commercial and military planes.

Hitler's Moves Depend On Outcome In Russia

Special News Service of The Democrat

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
This being the day the United States navy starts operating under orders "to capture or destroy" every axis raider that so much as casts an eye on lease-lend cargoes en route between America and Iceland, an editor suggests that I put myself in Herr Hitler's place and figure out how he will meet this difficult situation.

Always glad of new ideas, still we must beg to be excused from taking the place of any individual who is to all intents at war with our country. We don't care much either to be in the uncomfortable position of tangling with the U. S. navy, for which we have a very wholesome respect—and venture to suggest that the Fuehrer has too.

However, there's no harm in guessing what the Nazi chief has in mind. It would seem more profitable though to take a look at his entire war problem, since his action in the Atlantic must be

Accepted View New Operations Mean Convoys

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Stripped for action, the United States Atlantic fleet took under the protection of its guns today all lease-lend cargoes in transit on the Atlantic between the North American continent and Iceland.

The zero-hour for this new phase of operations was 12:01 a. m., and the widely accepted view in authoritative quarters here was that it meant the start of actual convoy duty by U. S. naval vessels along a 2,000-mile stretch of the North Atlantic.

Literally, the new naval policy as enunciated by Secretary Knox was to provide protection "as adequate as we can make it" in the designated area, with all fleet units under specific orders "to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal" every Axis raider encountered.

With the Atlantic fleet charged with the responsibility of safeguarding British and all other cargo vessels in the expanses west of Iceland, the Royal navy could concentrate its efforts on guaranteeing safe passage through the perilous 800-mile stretch between Iceland and the British Isles.

Ease British Burdens
In a companion move to ease Britain's shipping burdens, American merchantmen were given explicit permission to carry arms and munitions to many parts of the vast British empire.

A ruling by Attorney General Biddle, announced last night, held that President Roosevelt's neutrality act proclamation at the outbreak of the war in 1939 did not bar American ships from transporting implements of war to any portion of the British empire except the United Kingdom, India, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Union of South Africa and areas blocked by neutrality act "combat zones."

The effect of the ruling was to clear the way for the flow of munitions in American ships to numerous British colonies and possessions, some of them of strategic proximity to theatres of active operations and others of potential future importance.

Meanwhile, administration leaders in the senate were mulling over the whole broad question of the existing neutrality law and the report was they were undecided on how far they should go in seeking its overhaul.

Methods of changing it were discussed at yesterday's legislative conference with President Roosevelt, congressional leaders revealed, but they said the only decision

Hitler's Moves Depend On Outcome In Russia

Russian field, and so will have to curtail operations elsewhere.

In order to get himself properly set, or so it seems to me, the Nazi leader must capture Leningrad (and what a job that is proving to be); he must maintain at least his present position in the center of the line opposite Moscow; he must capture Kiev and roll the Red forces in the Ukraine clear back to the Don river, thereby putting himself in position to make a drive down through the Caucasus to Persia.

Possible Move To East

I was chatting yesterday with General H. S. Sewell, the British military expert, and he feels that Hitler's most likely move if he gets a favorable break in his present operations, will be to the east. The general points out that if the Germans are able to gain control of the Black sea, and if they can manage Turkey so as to have no active opposition from her, their way will be open to the Caucasus and the rich oil fields of the Caspian. Once in the Caucasus, the Nazis would threaten the whole British structure in the middle east.

If a drive down through the Caucasus isn't feasible, indications are that Hitler will put the screws on Turkey and try to get passage of his army across that country in order to get at the lower Caucasus and Persia. There is widespread belief in the Balkans that should the Turks refuse, Hitler might attack them, probably utilizing Rumanian and Bulgarian troops in the assault.

Should Hitler concentrate on the Middle East, his operations elsewhere probably would be restricted — barring the Atlantic over which is passing a constantly increasing stream of aid for the allies. Someway he must halt that traffic, else it will overwhelm him.

Now while he ultimately may feel compelled to go all-out in raiding the American - Iceland route, thereby precipitating open fighting with our warships, he has given plenty of indications that he would vastly prefer to avoid a clash which would bring us into the war and unleash our navy on him.

One would expect him first to try a fresh drive against British shipping as it is coming to England from Iceland. He undoubtedly is holding a large fleet of submarines in reserve, and when the Russian fighting eases off with the coming of winter, he will be able to release bombers to renew their assault on merchant ships and harbors.

Meantime, of course the Fuehrer is trying to rush Japan into the war, with the idea of diverting as much of our navy as possible to the Far East. This effort will be stymied if Washington and Japan reach an agreement in their present negotiations.

That there will be shooting between Yankee warships and Nazi raiders there can be little doubt. Still, many observers feel that if Hitler follows logical strategy he will try to confine his activities largely to operations outside our protected zone and thus avoid war.

Will Discuss Sending Planes

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Observers said today that one of the subjects to be discussed at the Moscow conference of Russia, Britain and the United States would be a project to fly large formations of bombers from Britain to Russia which would drop cargoes of bombs on German cities and communications en route.

Such a delivery would require a flight of a little over 1,400 miles or only about 300 miles farther than the present round trip from London to Berlin.

W. Averell Harriman, head of the United States delegation to Moscow, said United States products and raw materials already were reaching Russia in substantial quantities.

Harriman said that United States ships were "going freely" to Vladivostok, Soviet far eastern port, but he added that "great problems are involved," in getting materials through to the Soviets.

A commission headed by Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, was designated today to confer with Soviet and United States representatives in Moscow on the ways of meeting Russia's war needs.

Harriman said the Russian war had at first caused a letdown in the United States effort, but declared this situation was improved.

The United States mission of 22 or 23 persons, he reported, is leaving Britain for Moscow shortly. Asked the exact date, Harriman laughed and refused to disclose it, saying: "I don't want to become an incident."

Guns of U. S. Fleet Protect Cargoes

reached was that Mr. Roosevelt would recommend no changes before October 1.

Leaders conceded they might face a real fight in any effort to revamp the neutrality law, which prevents American ships from traveling to specified belligerent countries, prohibits Americans from traveling on belligerent vessels except under regulations issued by the President, requires transfer of title before goods can be shipped to belligerent nations, and bans the arming of American merchant ships.

One informed leader, requesting anonymity, said these courses were open:

1. To amend the neutrality law to permit the arming of merchant vessels. This move would be designed to give merchant ships some protection in their voyages to Iceland, the Red sea or other areas still open under the neutrality law.

2. To couple the arming of merchant vessels with an amendment permitting them to travel to Great Britain and other belligerent countries.

3. To wipe the neutrality law off the statute books.

This leader said that if he were guessing he would assume that Mr. Roosevelt would prefer the third course.

The discussion of future changes in the neutrality act would not compete, however, with the interest that attached to what was happening somewhere out in the Atlantic. At times not announced and along routes unspecified for reasons of military secrecy, various units of the fleet shifted from their previous patrol duties to the grimmer job of hunting down Axis raiders.

The broad outlines of the task were given by Knox yesterday in a speech to the American Legion at Milwaukee when he announced operations would begin today, with the navy ordered to "provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

Moreover, Knox said, "these ships are ordered to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal, Axis controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."

Deem It Means Convoys

That Knox' statement was broader than the "shoot-on-sight" policy set forth last week by President Roosevelt was the expressed belief of naval strategists, who said that adequate protection meant convoys.

To carry out its new task the Atlantic fleet was believed to have substantially in excess of the 125 vessels, including three old battleships, which were assigned to it when it was created more than a year ago. The battleships are the Texas, flagship of Admiral Ernest J. King, the New York and the Arkansas.

For many months this fleet, increased steadily by the addition of vessels newly built and probably also by transfers from the Pacific, has been patrolling the North Atlantic under orders to watch for and report the position of hostile craft. Planes of the fleet air arm have covered other thousands of miles of ocean.

Institution of American patrols released some British warships for badly needed duty in the home waters of the British Isles where German attacks have been heaviest, and in recent months British ship losses have declined steadily.

Now as the American navy shoulders the full job, it is expected that still more British ships will be made available for service in the stretch between Iceland and British ports, so that the vital bridge of ships all the way from United States and Canadian ports into Britain will be greatly strengthened.

Shoot Ten More Hostages

PARIS, Occupied France, Sept. 16.—(P)—A German non-commissioned officer was shot at here today after a German firing squad had executed 10 hostages for attacks on other German soldiers.

At the same time it was learned that another German non-commissioned officer was seriously wounded Monday night before execution of the hostages. The German shot at today was not hit.

General Heinrich von Stuelpnagel, the commander of the German occupying forces, announced today that ten more hostages had been shot in Paris in reprisal for attacks on German army men.

The executions were in retaliation for attacks on men of the army of occupation on September 6, 10 and 11, a notice informed the public.

there was marked extension of communal camaraderie and cooperation because of sharing dangers and responsibilities.

This, he said, doubtless will continue after the war, to Britain's benefit.

The ambassador said that he hoped to return to the United States soon.

Knox Speaks Out

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—(P)—Authoritative sources today called Navy Secretary Frank Knox "Roosevelt's staff trumpeter" who must always blare out what the president "does not quite dare to tell the American people."

Commenting on Knox's speech before the American Legion convention yesterday, the spokesman said that men like Knox and Senator Pepper always put into precise language, without speaking officially, "what Roosevelt for very good reasons does not say."

Forsee Hostilities

ROME, Sept. 16.—(P)—The Fascist press professed today to foresee inevitable hostilities with the United States as a result of Secretary Knox's announcement yesterday that United States naval vessels would protect ships carrying aid to Britain.

"The United States has really arrived at what is called the last step," said, Il Piccolo. "What margin now remains for averting the drama? None."

Other papers joined Il Piccolo in assailing what Il Piccolo called "the blind irresponsibility of the White House."

"From dawn this morning the American fleet is on a mission of war at sea from America to Iceland," said Il Popolo di Roma.

A heavy slump on Italian stock markets was reported with especially heavy declines yesterday in textile shares and shares of the Big Fiat and Breda companies, makers of airplane and other engines.

Beats Bride And Then Kills Self

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 16.—(P)—Coroner L. B. Morgan and Sheriff Howard Mayes said today that a young naval reserve officer beat his bride with a sabre here last night and then fatally wounded himself by thrusting the blade into his heart.

The officers identified the man as Lieut. Edward K. Harrison of the naval reserve medical corps and said no inquest would be held since it "obviously was a case of suicide."

Authorities at the naval air station said an investigation would be made by a board of inquiry. Harrison, an aviation medical student at the air station, and Miss Mary Hoban were married in the station chapel last Saturday.

Mrs. Harrison suffered lacerations about the head which she said her husband inflicted with the flat side of the sabre. She also was bruised when she jumped from a second floor balcony, she said, to escape from her husband. Her condition was not believed serious.

Sheriff Mayes said Mrs. Harrison told him she and her husband had quarreled several times over his "lavish tips" and other expenditures on a brief honeymoon.

Request Change In Series Start

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(P)—The city council today unanimously adopted a resolution requesting officials of the National and American leagues to change the scheduled opening date of the World Series from October 1 to October 2 so that it would not fall on the Jewish holy day of Yom Kippur.

The resolution was introduced by Councilman Walter R. Hart, Brooklyn Democrat. He contended that if the series opened on the Jewish day of atonement, October 1, persons of Jewish faith would have to forego not only the opening game, but all three games slated for Yankee Stadium, since tickets are sold in strips for three contests.

President Ed Barrow of the Yankees pointed out, when advised of the council's action, that "it's entirely up to Judge Landis—he's the man running the series."

'Indicated U. S. Be Forced In War'

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(P)—Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, said today that "events of the last few days strongly indicate" that war may be forced upon the United States.

Speaking at graduation exercises for 429 ensigns aboard the training ship Prairie State, Bard said that German submarines were coming ever closer to our shores and that four engined bombing planes had sunk ships within a few miles of land in this hemisphere.

Will of Mrs. Staples Filed

The last will and testament of Mrs. Sallie Ann Staples, who passed away September 10, was filed today in the probate court. Charles L. Hanley was appointed executor of the state in accordance with the request of Mrs. Staples in her will.

The will was made on March 7, 1941.

Rerouting Of Truck Traffic Is Discussed

of the city limits would involve great expense. The mayor also told them that they would possibly have to contend with three separate branches of road government in order to obtain their new route—the state highway department, the 12-mile road district and the Sedalia municipal government.

Counselor's Explanation

Fred F. Wesner, city counselor, explained to the petitioners that he believed the city had made a contract with the highway department several years ago, with the understanding the Sedalia would condition the highways as long as they were routed through the city. It was suggested, however, that the contract might be abandoned or changed if it were explained to the state department that the safety of Sedalia citizens was at stake, as well as a desirable living condition.

"As far as I'm concerned," one council member said with a smile, "you can give relief to the peoply that live anywhere in town and take all of the truck traffic off the streets by shipping entirely by railway I'm a railroad man myself."

Harlan Is Chairman

Harlan was appointed chairman of the committee to investigate the reroute possibilities. Jack Crawford and W. M. Johns are members of the committee.

The group was charged by the mayor to report to the council during some future meeting to tell what progress had been made. Several streets were discussed as possibilities for reroute, including the Main street road, which connects with highway 50 west of the city, but no decisions were made.

"This is the best audience we've had in a long time," said one council member. "I suggest that we encourage more petitions."

Suggests Safety Drive

Council member A. L. Pringle suggested to the council that a safety campaign to warn motorists of the danger to school children in the city be sponsored.

"I feel that the small amount of money we might spend for publicity in the campaign would be well worth while if we found we had saved a life by it," Pringle said. "The high speed some motorists travel along Broadway endangers the lives of even the most active pedestrians."

John H. Brooks and John J. O'Brien were appointed as members of the police force by a vote of 6 to 2.

Favor Sale Of Central Life

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—(P)—Sale of the insolvent Central States Life Insurance Co., to the newly formed Mutual Savings Life Insurance Co., of St. Louis, was recommended to the courts today by Ray B. Lucas, retiring Missouri state insurance superintendent.

Central States, which had 40,000 policyholders and $65,000,000 of insurance in force in 10 states, has been in the hands of the state insurance department since last November when it went into receivership as a result of what the state claimed was top-heavy investments in real estate.

Circuit Judge William B. Flynn gave no indication of when he would act on Lucas' recommendation.

The Mutual Savings Co., offer to reinsure the firm was one of two bids submitted to the court. The other was by the State National Life Insurance Co., also of St. Louis.

With court approval, Central States will be converted into a mutual company, with the policyholders replacing stockholders as the owners. The State National bid also proposed mutualization of the company.

Says 17th Inning Was A Farce

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(P)—National league President Ford Frick charged today that the 17th inning of yesterday's Cincinnati Reds-Brooklyn Dodgers baseball game was a farce, and warned that a repetition of such tactics anywhere in the loop will mean forfeit of a game in future.

After receiving reports from the umpire's of yesterday's game in Cincinnati, as well as several persons at the game, the league prexy issued the warnings in telegrams to Bill McKechnie, manager of the Reds; Leo Durocher, Dodgers' pilot and the entire staff of national league umpires.

Ask Patience of Land Owners

NEOSHO, Mo., Sept. 16.—(P)—Members of a house military affairs subcommittee counseled patience on the part of farmers protesting land prices offered by the government in the Neosho army camp area and predicted satisfactory adjustments would be made.

"I understand your problems," Rep. R. Ewing Thomason of Texas, chairman of the committee, told farmers at the conclusion of hearings. "You have shown a fine spirit and I want you to continue to do so, x x x National defense right now has to be paramount to every other consideration, but it does not necessarily mean that the individual cannot be treated fairly."

"I know you are not going to do anything rash or violent, x x x Just give us a chance to go through these minutes and make recommendations to the war department."

"I think the courts of this country still are fair. The federal judge will appoint three appraisers and if you are not satisfied with their findings and want a jury trial, my observation is that juries will try to do the right, fair thing."

Rep. Dewey Short, Galena, Mo., Republican who represents the area in which the camp site is located, also asked farmers to be patient and said that while the sub-committee was without power to do anything but investigate he was certain "right would triumph."

Four Children Killed By Car

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 16.—(P)—An automobile plowed into a group of eight children on a highway near the Indiana county community of Dixonville last night, killing four and injuring four, two seriously, Coroner Edward L. Fleming reported.

Six of the children were riding in a large toy wagon. The others were pushing and pulling the vehicle when the automobile struck them.

The dead were Mike Sagal, 15, his sister, Katherine, 13; Nick Kaleita, 9, and his sister Rose, 8, all of Dixonville, about 10 miles north of Indiana.

Fleming said the driver of the automobile told him the lights of an approaching car blinded him and he was unable to see the children until he was 30 feet distant.

Slay Fugitives In Front Of Bank

MACKSVILLE, Kas., Sept. 16.—(P)—Trapped by Kansas bureau of investigation officers who had waited all night, George Hight and Frank Wetherick, fugitives from the Kansas penitentiary, were shot to death today as they drove up in front of the Macksville State Bank.

Five FBI officers, led by Lou B. Richter, director and accompanied by Sheriff Logan Stanford and Undersheriff Wesley Wise were waiting on an advance tip the bank would be robbed.

The officers were stationed in front and on top of buildings as the two escaped gunmen drove up at 9 a. m., bank opening time.

One of the two fugitives evidently recognized the officers, drew his gun and fired once but as he fired the officers' guns answered back.

Both bandits were dead in a moment. There were five bullet holes in the windshield of their car and others riddled the sides.

A crowd soon gathered around the shooting scene on the main street of this western Kansas town of 800 population.

Hight and Wetherick were two of five men who fled the state prison on May 27 by tunneling through a sewer. Two of the five still are at large.

Wetherick was sentenced from Shawnee county in 1933 and Hight from Pratt county in 1927, both on robbery charges.

Officers found three rifles, three pistols and two sawed off shotguns in the car occupied by the fugitives.

Shelter From Flood In School

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 16.—(P)—More than 60 families took shelter in a schoolhouse and auditorium today after flood waters inundated a large portion of this southeastern Nebraska city.

Dikes constructed along the Blue river gave way last night and every available rowboat was pressed into service to rescue the families from homes suddenly in the midst of a deep roaring current.

A 2 1/2 inch rainstorm, following previous heavy rains ranging up to 10 inches in the area, precipitated the flood. Rail and highway traffic were at a standstill.

Twelve loaded cars of a fast Union Pacific freight train were derailed 10 miles north of Alexandria. Flood water apparently had undetermined the road bed.

Will of Miss Gregory

The will of Miss Martha L. Gregory, who passed away September 9, was filed today in the probate court and Mary A. Ritchey, a sister was named executrix of the estate by Judge J. E. Smith.

The will was made on September 9, 1936, five years to the day prior to her death.

House Approves Big Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—The house gave prompt approval today to the $3,533,400,000 compromise version of the new defense tax bill, clearing the way for final action tomorrow by the senate.

Without a roll call vote, the house adopted recommendations of a joint senate-house conference committee which worked out the compromise on changes made in the record breaking measure by the senate.

Furries of criticism developed against some of those changes, particularly the reduction of the individual exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons and the elimination of the requirement that all married persons file joint income tax returns.

Rep. Crowther (R-NY) protested that certain provisions of the bill, such as those lowering the exemptions and imposing a 5 annual use tax on passenger automobiles, would make the measure "an employment agency." He said that lowering of the exemptions last year had forced the internal revenue bureau to hire 3900 additional clerks to handle the increased number of returns added that the bureau had reported the proposed automobile tax would necessitate 3800 more employees to administer.

In response to questions, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways committee said it would cost the treasury 50 cents to handle each non-taxable income return filed and $1.50 for each taxable return. The treasury estimated that the lowered exemptions would cause filing of 4,930 additional returns but that only 2,275,000 of them would be taxable.

Bomb Plants At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16.—(P)—Two Kansas City firms, one busy on defense orders, were bombed during the night.

The larger of the blasts was in the entry way of the Montgomery Ward plant and shattered 30 windows and 13 plate glass panes in nearby doors at about 3 a. m. There was little other damage and the glass breakage loss was estimated at $500.

The Cramer chair factory, holding a government contract for airplane seats, was damaged an hour earlier by what police said was a black powder bomb. No one was injured and most of the damage consisted of broken windows.

Montgomery Ward has been picketed by an AFL truck drivers' union the past 11 weeks in a controversy over a hauling contract the firm made with the railway express. Non union truckers have been making city deliveries.

Pickets were on duty today. Police said it was the first violence at the plant since the picketing began.

R. A. Cramer, president of the chair concern, said he knew of no motive for the bombing of his plant.

Hold Ex-Convict After Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—(P)—A literary ex-convict, who came out of prison with tuberculosis, was held for questioning today about the bludgeoning of the wife of the doctor who cured him.

Her skull crushed, the body of Mrs. Florence Stricker, 42 year old heiress, was found Saturday night by her husband, Dr. George H. Stricker. She had been slugged, then shoved in a closet.

The house was topsy-turvy, indicating a hasty search for valuables, and Dr. Stricker said diamond rings which his wife was wearing were missing.

Ernest G. Booth, 43, who began writing in prison while serving a term for attempted bank robbery, was taken into custody Sunday. Yesterday he was booked on suspicion of murder. He denied any knowledge of the death, told how Dr. Stricker had treated him for three years, how the Strickers had invited the Booths to their home, and how he and the doctor were collaborating on a book. Then he said: "Anyone who thinks I'd repay kindness with murder doesn't know me."

Booth penned "Ladies of the Mob," later made into a movie starring Clara Bow, "We Rob a Bank" and "Stealing Through Life" while he was still behind bars. He has written magazine articles and worked as a scenarist at movie studios in recent months.

In a signed statement, he declared: "Murder is stupid. Obviously, if I had any connection with this crime I would have prepared an alibi."

Aubrey M. Hunter, division freight agent for the MKT, at St. Louis, who began his railroad career in Sedalia as a ticket clerk at the Katy passenger station here, passed away at a hospital in St. Louis Monday night at 7 o'clock following a stroke suffered that morning.

Mr. Hunter had been granted a leave of absence by the MKT, to serve as superintendent of transportation at the TNT plant of the Atlas Powder Company at Weldon Spring. This plant was constructed to make high explosives in the government's defense program.

His employment with the Katy dates way back to 1909 and was continuous with the exception of from September 1917 to January 1920 when he was at Toronto, Canada, being loaned to the British Munitions Board Aviation Section.

A recent article in the Katy Employees Magazine says of him: "Mr. Hunter is one traffic man who is just as familiar with the passenger side as with the freight side of the railroad business. After serving as ticket clerk at Sedalia and Muskogee, Okla., he went to Oklahoma City as the passenger agent at Detroit."

On November 1, 1938, he was transferred to Joplin as division freight and passenger agent and on July 1, 1931 was promoted to division freight agent at St. Louis.

Mr. Hunter was an affable man and a familiar figure in railroad transportation circles.

Besides his widow, Mrs. A. W. Hunter, of St. Louis, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. J. C. Hunter, of Dallas, Texas, a sister, Mrs. J. C. Thompson, of Dallas, a brother, Russell E. Hunter, Los Angeles, Calif., and an uncle L. G. Fellers, of Sedalia.

The body will be brought to Sedalia and will arrive at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning on MKT, train number five and be taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home, where the funeral services will be at

your next quart

New oil lasted 5,683 miles longer than the runner-up in Death Valley Death-Test ...CERTIFIED

Your own engine gauge-stick can tell you best about Conoco Nth motor oil. Next-best is to buttonhole the most frugal car owners you know around town. Some have never yet added a quart since changing to Conoco Nth. And you can see why right here—by the mileage figures from the Certified Death-Test of Conoco Nth oil vs. five other big brands.

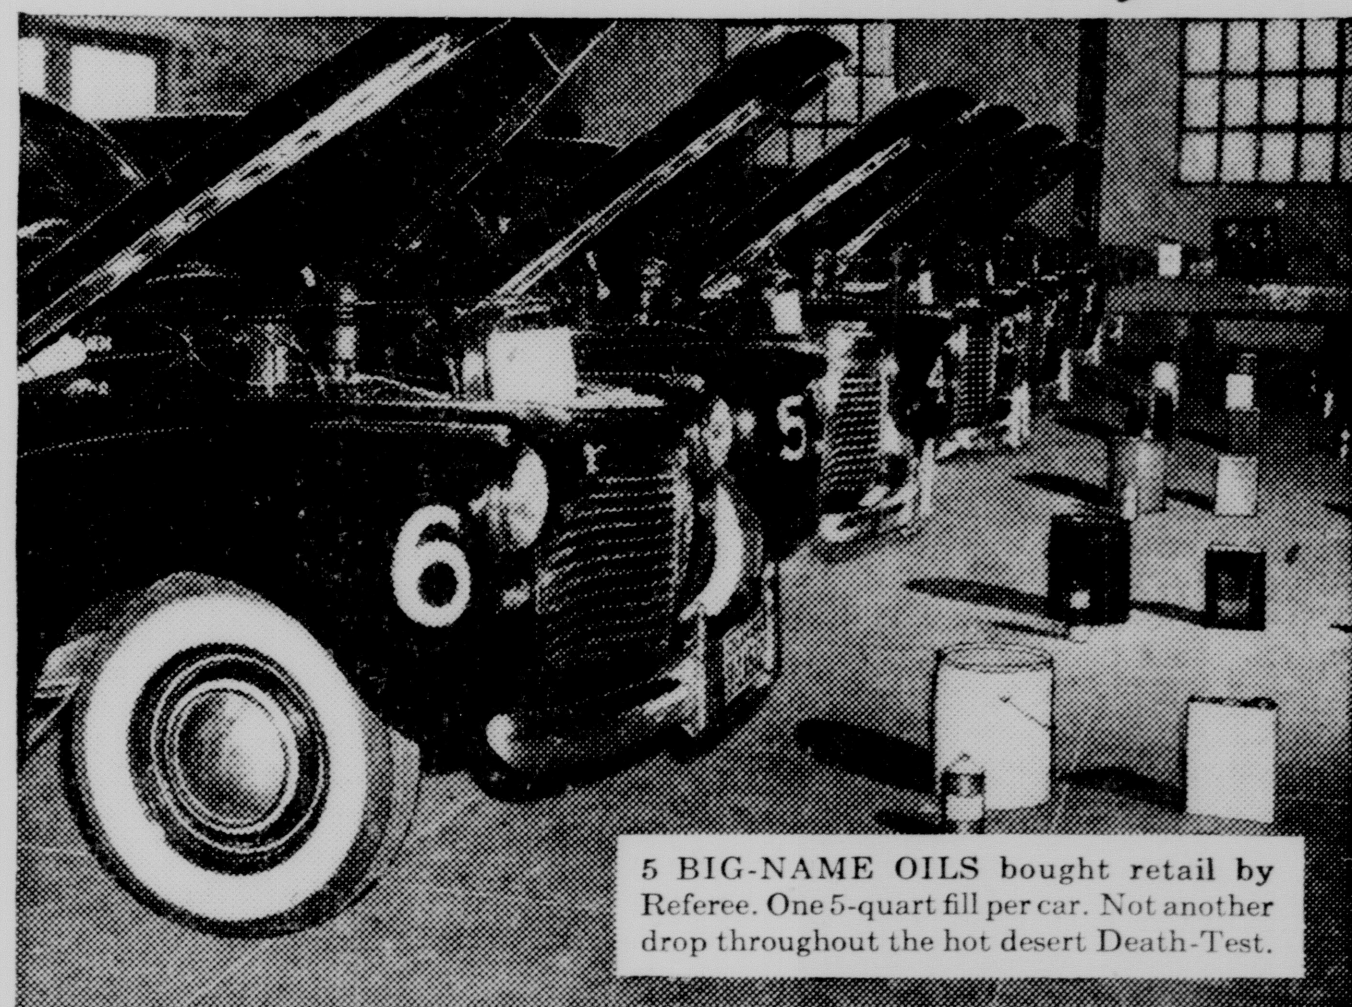

The whole big success of Conoco Nth started down in Death Valley—so hot you can't sweat. Here 6 new stock cars, strictly alike, each got one 5-quart fill of some one oil being tested. Then the Official Referee clamped on the locks; never a drop of oil could be added.

Eyed by impartial officials every instant, the cars all reeled off their 57 miles hourly. Here and there on the desert a carcass lay bleaching—and desert death awaited these car engines, too. For none could finish till its oil hit bottom—finishing the engine beyond repair.

CONOCO Nth gave nearly Twice the miles averaged by the others tested!

The 5-quart fill of Conoco Nth lasted 13,398 miles... Certified. Conoco Nth outlasted one big brand by 8,268 miles. Even the best of the five was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco Nth oil. Such a real difference must have a real source. And two real life-givers created by man... two modern synthetics... are in Conoco Nth motor oil.

You know of modern vitamin synthetics, making up for Nature's life-givers lost in some modern food processing. Similarly, the extreme refining needed by oils for current cars has been destroying Nature's best life-givers! But in their place today Conoco Nth brings your engine the two patented Conoco synthetics.

5 BIG-NAME OILS bought retail by Referee. One 5-quart fill per car. Not another drop throughout the hot desert Death-Test.

One of these—man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent—will keep your engine OIL-PLATED with lubricant that can't all quickly drain off of inner surfaces. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance! And the latest Conoco synthetic—man-made under U.S. Pat. 2,118,132—will check "foistering" of oil that's encouraged by foul leftovers from every engine's normal firing. This common oil trouble is now checked or inhibited by the new man-made Conoco life-giver—Thialkene inhibitor.

You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil in sinister Death Valley, any more than you repeat other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But how you'll expect to stretch the distance before adding a quart, judging by this big fact: 5 heavily advertised oils in the Certified Death Valley Test were outmiledged 74% to 161% by Conoco Nth oil. Economy like that counts up into dollars! Change to Nth oil today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The group of congressional leaders who conferred with the President before last week's historic broadcast got a much broader picture of the reasons behind the ultimatum than the President gave over the air.

He grimly informed his Capitol Hill chiefs that Hitler no longer could be trusted to respect the neutrality of American vessels anywhere in the world—that Hitler, in fact, had issued secret orders to "fire on sight."

Indeed, the President added gravely, the Fuehrer went so far as to instruct U-boat commanders to "search down" American vessels.

"We can have only one answer to this," Roosevelt said, in effect, "For our own safety, we must beat Hitler to the punch when we encounter him on the high seas. That is why American ships and planes which encounter German submarines and raiders, in waters that we deem necessary to our defense, have been ordered to shoot first."

The President went into some detail explaining the incident of the American battleship that was stalked by a Nazi submarine, to which he referred briefly in his broadcast.

"This happened before the Greer incident and it is further confirmation of our contention that, despite Nazi denials, the Greer was fired at first."

"I have a complete report from the commanding officer of the battleship, which was in the North Atlantic. This report shows that the sub maneuvered for four or five hours to get the battleship in a position where it could be torpedoed. There is no question about the intention of the sub commander. He would have sunk the battleship if possible."

The President held that, in the light of this and other recent experiences, it would be fatal to assume that American vessels are any more secure from attack than British warships.

"We can only assume," he said, "that when a Nazi sub or raider is in the vicinity—or within firing distance—of an American ship, it is there for one purpose only—to sink the American ship."

Missing Washington

After reading his address to the congressional group, the President invited criticism. But except for one or two clarifications no changes were made.

One suggestion produced a merry interlude in the otherwise grim conference. It came from House Foreign Affairs Chairman Sol Bloom, famous for so diligently promoting the anniversary of George Washington.

When the President read that part of the speech reviewing the measures against piracy taken by Presidents Adams and Jefferson, Bloom remarked:

"Why don't you mention George Washington? He sent a strong message to congress on the necessity of protecting our vessels in time of war."

There was a loud laugh from Sol's colleagues.

Most favorable comment on the speech came from Senator Tom Connally of Texas and Representative Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, acting speaker. Both warmly complimented the President's speech and predicted that "all true Americans will applaud it."

Note: The Washington message to which Bloom referred was sent to congress, December 7, 1796, and dealt with the necessity of protecting our sovereignty on the seas during the war between France and England. It stated in part: "To secure respect to a neutral flag requires a naval force, organized and ready to vindicate it from insult or aggression. This may even prevent the necessity of going to war by discouraging belligerent powers from committing such violations of the rights of the neutral party as may first or last leave no other option."

First Lady

Mrs. Roosevelt may soon work for the government for one dollar a year. That is, she will if Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia persuades her to take charge of the Women's division of his Civil Defense Administration.

Mrs. Roosevelt is intensely interested in civil defense and several months ago seriously considered visiting Britain to study civil defense measures under actual war conditions. Because of matters of state, this plan did not materialize.

Actually, behind the scenes, Mrs. Roosevelt has been very active in the Civil Defense Administration. LaGuardia confers with her frequently and several of her suggestions have been followed.

She is especially interested in bringing women into a prominent role in the CDA and at a recent conference gently criticized LaGuardia for not doing this. The shaft went home and he is now using it as his chief argument in urging the First Lady to take charge of Women's Division.

Note: The dynamic little New York mayor is telling friends that he has no intention of quitting as Civil Defense Administrator.

Senator "Pappy"

Scene: Radio room in the house office building, Washington.

Time: Any Thursday evening.

Characters: Senator Lee O'Daniel ("Pass the Biscuits, Pappy") and his hill-billy band.

The senator from Texas, with his troupe, has come to the studio to make a recording. Immediately after the show, records of the performance are shipped to 14 radio stations in the Lone Star state.

The hill-billy band has a hard time warming up Ezra, with his accordion; Micky Wicky (O'Daniel's son), with his bull fiddle; Texas Rose, singer; Caesar and Happy, with their violins, and the Texas songbird, with guitar and voice—plus the maestro himself—struggle a long time.

Pappy is displeased. "Micky, raise that bull fiddle . . . Ezra, get'rout'n' to the other side of the mike . . . No, no, it ain't right; let's try it a key lower."

Finally, the Senator spits out his chewing gum, and the happy company swings into a rendition of "Beautiful Texas."

This is a musical prelude to set folks to feelin' right. Then Pappy steps up to the microphone to greet the home folks as a senator in Washington, tells them how he misses Texas, bee-utiful Texas, how he helped remove joint-returns from the new tax bill and thus "prevented Texas mothers from becoming chattel slaves."

Then, as the half-hour show is over, Pappy congratulates himself on being the composer of two songs on the program, but complains that this radio business is expensive.

"Back in the days when I was campaigning for governor," he says, "they offered me $2,000 a program. While I was governor, I got free time on the air. But now I'm havin' to pay good money to go on the air."

Those who heard the show could well understand.

Merry-Go-Round

The crack office staff of the late Senator Pat Harrison has now been given White House jobs at the personal order of President Roosevelt . . . Further tell-tale sign of John L. Lewis' under-cover campaign to recapture the CIO presidency; although he has no open control over the CIO news, weekly organ supposed to represent all CIO unions, its last two issues have been filled with pro-Lewis articles. Who ordered this policy change, the leftist editors, closely allied with Lewis, refuse to say . . . The South Salt Lake, Utah, Kiwanis Club has launched a nationwide drive to organize Kiwanis clubs in South America.

Stamps on the Shelves

Between September 15 and 20, a million stores throughout the country, cooperating in "Retailers for Defense" week will offer the public a product they never handled before.

They are Defense Savings Stamps, and it is hoped that thousands of Americans who seldom go into banks will see these bargains on the shelves and buy them, thus forming a habit that will benefit them, their country, and their liberties all at once.

If you know a better bargain than that, go to it, but it looks like an awfully good one to us. Remember, "To Keep 'Em Flying, Keep on Buying" U. S. Defense Savings Stamps. A million retailers are making it easier for you.

Hope From the Burma Road

American trucking experts just returned from China, where they have been advising Chiang Kai-Shek on increasing and safeguarding traffic on the vital Burma Road, bring with them encouraging news. According to Daniel G. Arnstein, one of them, no amount of Japanese bombing will ever close that road. Arnstein was over every foot of it, studying it critically and making a valuable report to Chiang on increasing the traffic which is carrying vital war supplies to China. It cannot be bombed beyond a point where quick and effective repair is possible, Arnstein believes.

The Chinese, then, have done their part in building this magnificent artery of freedom. It remains for other friends of freedom to keep the life-blood supplies flowing into it.

State Fair Secretary J. R. Rippey announced today that since the close of the fair, he has paid out over $10,000 for premiums and for labor performed during fair week. Total attendance at the fair was 17,101 persons, with an admission amount of $3,263.50.

The work of remodeling Hotel Sicher will be finished this week. Steam radiators have been installed, and many of the rooms in the building have been completely redecored.

At a meeting of Sedalia Typographical Union No. 206 last night, several resolutions concerning the death of President McKinley at the hands of an assassin were passed upon. The resolutions included a denunciation of anarchy, treason and revolutionary acts of all forms.

Rev. Fred Pfeiffer, pastor of the German Evangelical church, will leave tonight for St. Louis, where he will attend the general synod of his church as a delegate from the Western Missouri district.

It's all so foolish and useless, when Daddy . . . and you, too . . . can get custom-tailored Phillips 66 gasoline, without paying a penny extra.
Yes sir, it needs no carburetor tinkering. It is re-matched every month to the climate in your locality.

Fight Halted Due To Injury

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Middleweight Champion Billy Soose prepared to head east today, his crown slightly on the tarnished side after one of the most vicious fights with the most unsatisfactory endings witnessed in Los Angeles in years.

Handsome Billy's 12-round non-title fight with veteran Cefirino Garcia was stopped midway in the eighth round and called a draw because Soose's left eye was badly cut.

A near riot almost ensued, Referee Abe Roth was almost mobbed as he left the ring, and today the State Athletic Commission promised further action after consulting with the referee's decision.

Roth apparently issued statements by the minute from the shelter of a dressing room as the crowd of 5,000 milled angrily around the ball park.

Roth said Garcia butted Soose in the seventh round, slitting the eyelid, and then hammered it wider in the eighth. Soose said he was butted in the sixth, though no blood appeared and the commissioners, sitting at ringside, said they saw no butt in any round.

Soose, under Roth's round count, captured the first five rounds, captured the first five rounds with brilliant boxing. The veteran Garcia, launching a savage attack, swept the next two rounds and was meting out heavy punishment in the eighth at the finish.

Sedalians To Play With M. U. Saturday

Paul Meyers, minute Missouri Tiger halfback and a former Smith-Cotton high school athlete, is expected to see action with the varsity football team Saturday against the freshmen in their annual game in the Memorial Stadium at Columbia.

Meyers is a senior at the university. He is also a high jumper on the track team, but he is somewhat handicapped for football because of his size of being only five feet eight and tipping the scales at 155, however, Coach Don Faurot expects to use Meyers in a number of the important Big Six games.

Sedalia has another football player on the squad in Jack Van Dyne, an end. Van Dyne is also expected to get in time against the freshmen. He is a sophomore and is working hard against some stiff lettermen competition for his berth.

Dodgers Take 17-Inning Game 5 To 1

Tied Record For Seasons Longest
No Score Until 16th

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds put on one of the most peculiar ball games in the memory of man Monday with practically all the peculiarities coming in the 17th inning, and the Dodgers finally bundling up the game like Arabs in the night.

The score was 5 to 1, giving the Dodgers their second straight victory here and increasing their margin over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to two games.

For 16 solid innings Paul Derringer, ace veteran of the Reds, and Johnny Allen, 36-year old American league cast-off, and Chubby Hugh Case pitched brilliant scoreless ball.

5.961 See Game
Then, with afternoon turning to twilight and twilight turning to night, the ball game became the grandest assortment of hoopla that 5,961 baseball fans ever were called on to witness.

What happened as the bleachers lit bonfires of papers and scorecards was this in general:

Pete Reiser, who had hit only a single in his six other times at bat, opened the 17th with a booming homer into the right field "sun" seats. Derringer, who had pitched his heart out, was through, but you couldn't tell for sure in the shadows.

Dolf Camilli whipped out a single to left and Lew Riggs sent one to right. That was all for Derringer, who went out to his 14th defeat amid cheers, and Joe Beggs came in.

Funny-Stuff Starts
About now the funny stuff started. Benny Zientara fumbled Joe Medwick's grounder and let in a run. Dick West made another error. Manager Leo Durocher was yelling from the dugout to Mickey Owen, "strike out, strike out." But Mickey singled to left for two runs and the ball game went on. Somewhere along here Jim Turner relieved Beggs and threw what was believed to be a wild pitch, one more run scoring.

Somewhat it got along to two down, with Dixie Walker hitting an infield fly to third for an automatic out, there being men on first and second at the time. Billy Herman finally fanned on purpose.

Play Until 7 o'clock
But there was still a good chance for the game to be called and the score revert to the 16th inning. Two walks, prolonged as possible, then a single by Harry Craft and an infield out produced the run that kept the Reds from being shut out shortly after 7 o'clock. Casey at last squeezed Eddie Joost's little popper and tossed to first to end the exhibition.

Ready To Buy The Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—(AP)—John B. Kelly, national director of physical training, heads a syndicate that is ready to offer $500,000 for the National League baseball Phillies.

"A syndicate with which I am associated is anxious to give Philadelphia a winning baseball team in the National League," Kelly disclosed. "We expect to make an offer within the next few days and hope we can acquire the controlling block of stock."

Kelly, champion Olympic sculler back in the early 1920's and former democratic chairman of Philadelphia, said Big Jim Peterson, who pitched for the Athletics 10 years ago, probably would handle negotiations with Gerry Nugent, president of the tail-end Phils.

However, Peterson, now in the advertising business, and Nugent both professed ignorance.

Warsaw Shuts Out Clinton Red Sox

Sunday the Warsaw Merchants shutout the Clinton Red Sox by a score of 6 to 0 to upset the Clinton champions. Warsaw had the services of Ernie Carpenter who recently finished the season at Natchez, Miss., while on the mound for Clinton was Tetley.

The fact they defeated the Clinton team has put life into the Merchants and they are now throwing a challenge at the Sedalia Merchants for a game with the "winner-take-all" proposition. This challenge was issued by Lloyd J. Parsons, manager of the Benton county club this week.

Kansas State May Threaten The Big Six

Coach Hobbs Adams
Says The Champion
Wont Win All Games

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Coach Hobbs Adams took one look at a bumper crop of Kansas State ends and tossed a careless threat at the big three of the Big Six.

"Look out for usets," he said, chasing three candidates out of the end camp over to the guard end tackle department. He admitted the remarks were directed to Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri.

"I wouldn't be surprised," he went on, "if the Big Six champion emerges with a defeat on its conference record."

The gangling Wildcat tutor didn't say K-State would do the upsetting but one glance at the surplus of above-par material should tip Messrs. Jones, Luster and Faurot to scratch the Aggies off the pushover list.

Over at Lawrence, Coach Gwinn Henry sent the Kansas Jayhawkers through their first scrimmage and again the emphasis was on sharp shooting passes, featuring Ralph Miller, Ray Niblo and Ray Evans.

The Missouri baseball captain, William Spencer, showed Coach Don Faurot some fancy footwork at Columbia, booting 37 consecutive conversions from place-kicking territory.

Snorter Luster lifted the veil of mystery from Sooner practices at Oklahoma but all 1,500 goggle-eyed railbirds saw was an afternoon of vicious block and tackle work in the open field.

Jim Cobb, 216-pound senior tackle and Ellis Alexander, recently stricken with appendicitis, suited up at Iowa State and brightened the day for Coach Ray Donels. Alexander is a fullback prospect, Harry McGraw, a tackle, was vying with Royal Lohry, a back, in punting drills.

A rain-soaked field cushioned the blows for Nebraska's Cornhuskers who indulged in a brief workout after a chalk talk. A fractured jaw will keep Ken Simmons, a halfback candidate, out of action a month.

This is a Citizen This is a Stooge

WHAT IS A CITIZEN?

A citizen is someone who is well informed—who knows how to take part in self-government. He knows the FACTS on events and issues of the day. He is equipped by this information for the responsibility of voting. He gets this information from his newspaper.

Citizens live in Democracies.

WHAT IS A STOOGES?

A stooge is someone who is UNINFORMED. He is KEPT from knowing the things that the citizen has to know. He can't take part in self-government. He can only do what he's told—submit to regimentation—because he doesn't know any better. He hasn't any honest newspaper to show him he's a stooge. All he reads is propaganda.

Stooges live in Dictatorships.

STOOGES STAND IN LINE

They line up in the state-controlled stores to buy what the dictators tell them. They don't get what they want; they get what the dictators want them to get. And they pay what the dictators want them to pay. If the dictators' propaganda says that butter made from axle grease tastes good, the stooges have to smack their lips over it. Or else get smacked!

NOT SO THE CITIZEN

He buys where he WANTS to buy... where he can get the best value for his money. Merchants have to COMPETE for his business. They tell him about their wares in newspaper advertising columns. He gets the FACTS about what they have to sell, then makes up his own mind about what to buy. Nobody can force him into it.

Stooges EXIST under dictatorship, without independence in their newspapers. But to the citizens of the United States—who really LIVE—the newspapers are invaluable. They print the news facts that make self-government possible. They print the advertising facts—the all-important information that helps Americans to LIVE BETTER.

Serial Story

Bride From the Sky

By HELEN WILSHIMER

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Two suitors have been vying for the hand of the lovely, blonde, and beautiful Peg Gordon. One, Sandy Ammerman, an aviator, she believed she loved when his plane is downed on a trip to the west coast, only to change her mind when newspaper stories link him romantically with the beautiful Peg Gordon. The other is Philip Rogers, attorney. Judy changes her mind in Chicago about flying to join Sandy, returns to her office in New York to find her secretary, Sara Fuller, acting suspiciously.

THE OFFICE TAKES SIDES

CHAPTER VII

JUDY paused at the low, white entrance to her office, suddenly in full control of her senses, every inch the editor of her department. Only the brown blaze of her eyes revealed her inner turmoil.

Unconsciously Sara Fuller hung up. Her green eyes darkened and she stood, towering above the girl whose assistant she was.

"Wasn't it rather an abrupt ending to your conversation?" Judy asked, removing her hat and cape. "I'm sorry I interrupted. I'm back, if I'm wanted again."

"Sorry," Sara Fuller answered, drawing herself so tall that Judy felt her inches were not adequate. She felt young, inexperienced, like a fiddler without a song to play. Sara would know when she loved a man. She would bind a cord to hold him. "The call was not for you. It was for me," Sara's suave voice answered.

She might have said, "Please open the mail," or, "Get me the latest proofs." She might even have made a suggestion about dusting the desks or watering the flowers. She ruled the office at that moment, and she refused to acknowledge any interference. Judy turned quickly, eyes flashing, voice smoldering under its coldness. She picked up the empty leather frame that one time had held Sandy's picture.

"Where is Sandy?" she asked, voice tense. "I didn't give you permission to destroy his picture. I'd like it back, please. At once!" "I took it upon myself to keep still when I was asked for a picture of you and Sandy. I neither denied or gave the right to anyone to take that," Sara's voice was clear and clipped.

"No, you merely turned your head respectfully and didn't care. You sold it—not for 30 pieces of silver, but to hurt me. You've wanted to do that for a long time! But why, Sara? Why?"

SARA shrugged her narrow shoulders, smoothed her black hair with one hand, and twisted her lips into a semblance of a smile.

"All of this—this discomfort—has hit you rather badly. Please believe I wasn't responsible for it. I hardly staged that scene at Peg Gordon's camp. And I certainly didn't go around gathering up the snaps in the latest papers. Peg and Sandy must have known each other somewhere . . . sometime."

"It was nice of Miss Gordon to break her ankle just so she could bring her flying Lochinvar down," Judy answered, dropping down at her desk. "She needn't have exerted herself. I wasn't engaged to him. He's as free as the air."

"You mean that?" Sara crossed the floor on honey-colored brogues, whose tone was repeated in the green and blue of the light-weight plaid suit she wore.

"Certainly. Why does it seem odd to you?" Judy held her voice to its low contralto. Her hands played with new proofs. She wished Sara would move away. There was something she must know and know quickly. In the third drawer on the right-hand side of her desk she had left half a dozen kodak snaps of Sandy, taken the summer before when his silver plane first flew her way. She must reach for them, must see that they were in place. But that wasn't all. She must see Sandy and Sara grouped together in some gay world where she never had been.

"I'll look over the proofs," Sara was saying. "You have other, more important things to do." She picked up the copy as she spoke, and stepped into the cubbyhole that was her office. Amazed at the dark girl's sudden generosity Judy smiled and let her go. Her pictures still were there. She opened her bag and hid the pictures under a zipper.

Now she must find the late papers. They were in a wastepaper basket in the outer office. Nonchalantly as though she discussed new shades for summer nail polish she smoothed the discarded sheets, and spoke to the secretaries and receptionist.

"I've heard I'm climbing up to glory on Sanford Ammerman's silver," she said. "Oh, here's the story. Not a bad picture of Peg, is it?"

"She's sold on herself," someone interrupted. "But I suppose she has enough buckets of glamor to do a complete job. The gal doesn't appeal to me."

"I thought you'd say yes to Sandy pretty soon," another associate editor interposed. "He had something—gallantry, recklessness, dash. I think you made a mistake, Judy." Her smile was swift and understanding as she passed Judy.

So already the office had taken sides. Some believed the rescue act was authentic, or were determined to pretend that they did. And others were hoping that Sandy had flown away. The gossip columns would say things. Everyone would know. That is, unless Sandy found a newspaper in his mountain fastness and squared things with the public. He would have to deny the Peg romance and toss his heart down from the sky to a girl with rusty hair and eyes that were purpled with mist as she waited.

SHE found a new set of proofs, carried them into her office and closed the door. If she worked she would not remember. Work stayed with you. It never let you down. Work spread its paths across long loneliness and silence until you forgot someone whose eyes were tender or laughter-filled, teasing or gay, but never stern. Until you ceased to wonder why everyone in the world but you had known about another girl.

A rain came up and spattered the window pane. Lilies from a potted plant grew sweeter and Judy turned to read the card it carried. "Phil." Ah, Phil was being sweet today. And asking nothing, nothing except that she meet him that afternoon. If she didn't hurry she would be late.

She read the stories, blue-pencilled them, made two inserts, saw that the outlines fitted the layout. She pulled the final sheets toward her. The rain came harder. The lilac fragrance grew heavier, sweeter.

She glanced down at the last story. She drew her breath in slowly. This was just part of a bad dream, too. Something around which a story-teller arranged his tale.

But even as she read the story, she lifted the telephone from its ivory cradle and repeated Philip Rogers' number in a low voice, caught in a husky fearfulness.

Decline On The Grain Market

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Extreme weakness in soybean futures carried all grains sharply lower today. Soybeans turned downward in sympathy with the lower trend in cotton and cottonseed oil futures. Demand was indifferent and reports of rapid progress toward maturity of the new crop in the two main producing states, Illinois and Indiana, led to liquidation sales.

Wheat closed ¼ to ½ cents lower than Monday's final quotations. Sept. 11.15½ to 11.18½, Dec. 11.21½ to 11.24½; corn ¼ to 1½ cent off. Sept. 75½c, Dec. 81c; oats ¼ to 1 cent down; and soybeans ¼ to 5½ cent off.

Five Killed In Maneuvers

By RICE YAHNER
WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 16—(AP)—The United States' massive army temporarily grounded its combat aviation—almost 400 planes—late Monday after a collision of planes, maneuvering as they would in war, caused the death of one pilot in rain-dripping, low clouds and brought to five the fatalities in the first day of maneuvering with the second army.

Four soldiers, including a captain, were killed in pre-dawn traffic accidents in blackouts as thousands of troop-carrying vehicles, armored cars and tanks rumbled into no-man's land in west central Louisiana for the games testing the strength, training and staff work of 480,000 officers and men.

Second Lieut. John Bobroski of Racine, Wis., attached to the eighth pursuit group, plummeted to his death in a flaming army pursuit ship of the second army near Coushatta, La., after figuring in a collision with a navy dive bomber, piloted by Lieut. R. B. Woodhull of San Antonio, Tex.

Also killed were Captain Lamar T. Woodward, a regular army officer from Fort Knox, Ky., Corp. Hamilton W. White of Los Gatos, Calif., and Private William A. Jones of Weeksbury, Ky., and E. D. Hightower of Grovers Springs, Mo., all attached to the second army and all killed in traffic accidents during blackouts Sunday night.

Warn On Work By Children

As schools open for the fall term, Walter W. King, Kansas City, regional director of the wage and hour division, U. S. department of labor, for Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming, issued a warning that the full time employment of children under the age of 16, during school periods, is contrary to the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards act (Federal wage and hour law).

However, Mr. King pointed out minors between 14 and 16 years of age may be employed in certain non-manufacturing and non-mining occupations outside of school hours, but such employment is limited to three hours per day and eighteen hours per week while school is in session. During school vacation periods, the hours may be extended to eight per day and a total of forty in one week. Working hours for children of those ages, in general must be between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

"While the child labor provisions are more lenient with respect to children employed in agriculture," Mr. King said, "they do apply to minors so employed during the periods when they are legally required to attend school. Also, the act itself makes provision for parents or custodians of children to employ their own children under 15 years of age—the basic minimum set in the act—in occupations other than manufacturing or mining."

The administration of the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards act is in charge of Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's bureau, U. S. department of labor, Washington, but inspectors of the Wage and Hour division assist in the enforcement of the child labor requirements.

"Our inspectors are on the alert to see that violations of the law and the child labor regulations are permitted," Mr. King said. "Because of the increases in employment caused by the national defense effort there may be an inclination on the part of employers to retain 14 or 15 year old children on full-time jobs during the school year. However, there is no justification for such action and we will rigidly enforce the provisions of the law intended to eliminate such practices."
